Skills Bootcamp:

Introduction to Landscape Construction

The landscaping and construction sectors continue to face skills shortages and recruitment challenges. Our Introduction to Landscape Construction Skills Bootcamp has been designed to help address these challenges by developing new entrants and supporting existing employees to gain the practical skills, knowledge, and industry recognised certifications needed to succeed in the sector.

What Learners Will Achieve

Over two weeks, participants will gain:

- » Emergency First Aid at Work Certificate
- » ROLO (Register of Land-based Operatives) Health, Safety and Environmental Awareness Certification
- » Abrasive Wheels Training
- » Practical Labouring Skills and Knowledge
- » Introduction to Bricklaying Techniques
- » Introduction to Laying Paving Slabs
- » Employability and Workplace Skills

The programme provides learners with the fundamental skills and confidence required for entry-level roles within landscaping, grounds maintenance, and construction.

Looking to Develop New Recruits?

If you have recently recruited staff, or labourers who would benefit from structured training, this Bootcamp provides an ideal development opportunity. Eligible SME employers are only required to contribute 10% (£450) towards the training cost, with the remaining funding provided through the Skills Bootcamp programme. This offers a cost-effective way to develop employees while ensuring they gain valuable industry skills and certifications.

Looking for New Talent?

We are working to support the landscaping industry by encouraging more people to consider careers within the sector.

Through this Skills Bootcamp, we are preparing motivated individuals for employment by providing:

Practical hands-on training

Industry-recognised certifications

Health and safety awareness

Workplace readiness and employability skills

Employers are invited to engage with the programme and connect with learners who may be seeking employment opportunities following completion of the Bootcamp.

Working Together to Grow the Sector

This Skills Bootcamp forms part of a wider commitment to developing the next generation of landscape construction professionals. By supporting Skills Bootcamps, employers can play an active role in attracting, developing, and retaining skilled individuals within the landscaping and land-based industries.
